Growing a Grassroots Radio Station

Flyn Ludington

Fairbanks Open Radio is on track to hit the airwaves this summer with a new low-power radio station, KWRK-LP 90.9 FM!

In a time of rapid and deep cultural change, serious dialogue and action is required. KWRK-LP will bring that ferment to our community. And since FOR will not accept donations from large corporations or foundations, it will be up to local volunteers and individual donors to grow this station from the grassroots.

Last year, FOR (with the help and support of the Alaska Peace Center) received one of 1000 low-power educational radio station construction permits granted nationwide by the FCC. For more than ten years, citizen media activists pushed the FCC to allow community organizations access to the increasingly corporatized airwaves. It was an historic opportunity, as the FCC currently has no future plans to offer any more permits of this kind.

KWRK-LP will broadcast from College and University, reach a maximum signal radius of 5 miles, and eventually stream online at kwrk.org. Programming will include local music, in-depth educational interviews, radio drama, and book readings; as well as shows from sources like Pacifica, Project Censored and others. KWRK-LP will also air popular shows like Counterspin and Richard Nelson's Encounters, which were available locally years ago.

FOR will include marginal groups (both as listeners and content producers) such as: youth and elders, native language speakers, veterans, the poor and homeless, incarcerated persons past and present, activists and other working class folks.

Meetings are held in the studio every Wednesday at 5pm (also the APC office - above the Fuji restaurant – at the address below). You can also call 374-0577 with suggestions and solidarity, or visit and "like" our facebook page.

To donate funds, you can send a check to:
KWRK-LP
3535 College Rd., Suite 203
Fairbanks, AK 99709

Also, in the coming weeks FOR will be launching an online crowd funding campaign. Look for "Fairbanks Open Radio: KWRK-LP" on indiegogo.com.

And please, stay tuned!

Freedom

Rob Mulford

A friend recently asked me, "How do you define freedom?" My immediate response was panicked-reflexive, a return to 8th grade English, a la say, "Define the word reprobate." However, like the concept love, I found no Webster's definition that quite fit the bill. Poets come close. The slave and the caged creature know it intuitively.

I once heard folk singer, Utah Phillips say, "The state can't give you free speech and the state can't take it away... You're born with it, like your eyes, and your ears. Freedom is something you assume, then you wait for someone to try to take it away. The degree to which you resist is the degree to which you are free."

On January 23, another friend of mine, Kathy Kelly reported to federal prison to begin serving a 3 month sentence for the crime of carrying a loaf of bread onto Whiteman Air Force Base, one of the bases where pilots remotely operate weaponized drones over Afghanistan and other countries. Kathy and her accomplice, Georgia Walker, wanted to break bread with base commander Brig. Gen. Glen D. Van Herk and read him a letter. The letter was from friends of Kathy's, with whom she had lived in Afghanistan. Their message was simple: "Please stop killing us!"

The prosecution had said, "Ms. Kelly needs to be rehabilitated." The judge agreed.

One third of women in prison worldwide, are in U.S. prisons. Kathy will soon be joining them, listening to their stories, sharing them later with whoever will listen, as well as those who will refuse, a recidivistic practitioner of the crime of freedom.*

On March 4th to 6th, I'll be joining friends at Creech Air Force Base near Las Vegas, Nevada, in an attempt to shutdown that horrid center of drone warfare. I may get arrested. I don't know. In the name of freedom please consider joining us, if only in mind and spirit.

*Kathy Kelly came and received enthusiastic response at 3 local high schools & UAF in 2006. While she is in prison, she can receive letters through the mail. If you would like to write, please address your envelope to:

Alaska Quakers in Washington, D.C.

Maia Genaux

*Karl Franke, David Bantz and I participated in the annual ... lobby day of the Friends Committee on National Legislation (a Quaker lobby group) in Washington, D.C., Nov 2014.

Our task for FCNL was to request that each elected official make a public statement supporting negotiation with Iran regarding development of their nuclear capabilities. 25 elected officials issued supporting statements after the visits, adding their names to more than 120 already on record.

We visited with staff of Rep. Don Young and Senators Begich and Murkowski (she also joined us eventually). Rep. Young's office...presented some challenges... Our request ... was easily rejected by his staff, favoring instead, "Walk softly and carry a big stick,"... "the best peace achievable is a Cold War style bipolar standoff;" ... "the best way to deal with ISIS is kill them all." I'd like to ask, "What experiences have you had that lead you to advocate this position?"

Our visit with Sen. Murkowski went better ... [but] the likelihood of her advocating for negotiation seemed slim...

we offered her a booklet by FCNL and American Friends Service Committee, entitled "Shared Security." ...a vision statement in development, identifying that the goal of "security", or well-being, anywhere depends on "security" everywhere. ...[and] depends on our shared safety, food and income distribution, education, environment, etc. ...

She was interested, accepted the booklet, leafed through it ... she seemed to be contemplating what such goals might look like, and what efforts already underway might feed healthier outcomes...

David expects to continue his communications with Sen. Murkowski's office. Karl and I are considering participation in FCNL's lobby efforts next year.

Alternatives to Violence Workshops & Presentation in Fairbanks!

Carrie Farr

Those of us organizing the AVP workshops here in Alaska. are excited! We are growing! There will be an advanced AVP workshop this Feb. 13-15 for those who completed the beginning workshop. We will have Roger coming back from the Seattle AVP as well as Karen from Homer to facilitate the weekend.

Then in late March (probably March 27-29), we will have another beginning AVP. There was a working group of AVPers who gave workshops in the 1990's in the communities around Alaska and in three of the jails in the state. Lucky for us, we have found five of the 1990's facilitators interested in becoming active again and leading the way for those of us who will become facilitators in the future.

There are many ways to work on peace and this is one way--learning alternative ways to deal with conflict that are more effective than ways we may have learned growing up. AVP focuses on individual peace-making in the relationships around us. To learn more about it, you are invited to come to an interesting talk by Roger on Thurs. Feb.12 at the Alumni Center on the UAF campus (Constitution Hall) at 7 p.m.

Our nation loudly proclaims the words Democracy and peace.

Its deeds are war and killing.

Our nation has been at war
in the Middle East since 2003.

Official policy has become
"endless war without end."

War and military expenditures come at a price to all of society. Less resources available for education, employment, the general welfare of our own citizens.

Profits made from war are theft
from every man, woman and child.

"Innocent until proven guilty" is replaced with
"suspected" as all that is needed to kill an 'enemy'.
Justice and due process have been lost.

It is acknowledged after the fact that mistakes are often made by our killing military machine.

Who pays for the deaths of those who were innocent?
Can money buy the life of one who is killed?
What have we become as a nation?

The time for peace is now; it can be realized within you and may you live in peace forever.

On the Road in Cuba 7/31 - 8/15/2014, Highlights

Dear Friends of Peace Rider,...following up on friendships from my earlier February and March ride in eastern Cuba. I didn't take a bicycle this time.

Don Ross, aka Peace Rider, has been bicycling thousands of miles in recent years. You can check out his blog at: <http://ridefortheplanet.blogspot.com/>

North Star Veterans for Peace, VfP chapter 146, is looking for new members and energy!

Veterans for Peace Rob Mulford and John Spitzberg are the most reliable staffers of Open Hours for the Alaska Peace Center. They also keep abreast of what our armed forces are being called upon to do in our name, with our tax money (often close to 50% of the budget!), and other activities that influence the future of our community, state, nation, and world. John staffs Friday Open Hours 7-9pm. He invites veterans and those who embrace the VfP mission to visit, or call him at 828-230-6902.
