Good News category:

from Gov. Walker: “I... apologize to our indigenous people. As I continue to learn more how historical trauma and policies of assimilation have affected Alaska Native people and communities, it is clear to me that healing, truth, and reconciliation are critical for a safe, strong, and healthy Alaska.” “For the generational and historical trauma you have suffered, I apologize. This apology is long overdue. It is but one step in hundreds more to go on this journey towards truth, reconciliation, and healing.”

Peace

An appeal from Alaska Peace Center: “Do you have a color laser printer at home?”

If so, would you print some APC brochures and/or event flyers as a small contribution to the work we do? Please contact us via info@alaskapeace.org.”

from Beyond Nuclear International:

began in Rio de Janeiro in 2010. One year later, the Fukushima-Daiichi nuclear power plant disaster occurred in Japan.

“People, as well as the issue, are an important focus of the festival. The organizers wanted to hear about films featuring ‘concerned citizens and indigenous peoples fighting against uranium mining projects in countries like Australia, India, Niger, Namibia, USA, Canada or Portugal.’” from Friends Committee on National Legislation (FCNL):

“On Oct. 20, President Donald Trump announced plans to withdraw from the Intermediate Range Nuclear Forces Treaty. The INF Treaty, signed with the former Union of Soviet Socialist Republics in 1987, prohibits nuclear missiles with a range of between 300 and 3,500 miles. The prohibition largely eliminates the threat of nuclear war within Europe between the U.S. and Russia... Through decades of committed diplomacy, the immediate threat of nuclear war was greatly reduced –until now. That de-escalation was achieved in no small part by all sides clearly, publicly demonstrating their commitment to reducing factors that made nuclear war more likely. The INF Treaty is a key part of that commitment. FCNL is calling on the president not to withdraw from the treaty.

“Time to Stop Enabling Saudi Arabia Rep. Jim McGovern (MA-06) introduced a bill that would end U.S. military support and arms sales to Saudi Arabia immediately. The bipartisan bill follows Rep. McGovern’s bill last week calling for an investigation of the disappearance of journalist Jamal Khashoggi.”

Justice

from Unitarian Universalist fellowship of Fbks:

“Social Justice Book Club: The UUFF Social Justice book club announces our first book of the year, Angie Thomas’s The Hate U Give. Now a major motion picture, this work of contemporary young adult fiction gives voice to a young woman of color living through the effects of police brutality. Our discussion will take place on Wednesday, Nov 14, from 7-9pm at UUFF. Please read or listen to the book prior to attending the discussion...” info@uuff.org

“Planned Parenthood Votes, Fairbanks Climate Action Coalition and Hrrrl Scouts [are] holding a series of workshops on white supremacy, white privilege and intersectionality in activism and community building.

- There are four workshops in this series - from FCNL: “The Trump administration is considering a policy that would remove federal recognition of transgender people in many settings, including education.

“A caravan of over 7,000 people from Central America moved northward through Mexico, headed for the U.S. border. On Oct. 25, the administration announced plans to send 800 U.S. Army troops to the border. Everyone has the legal right to present themselves at our southern border and apply for asylum. Those seeking safe haven and fleeing violence must not be met with threats of violence....

Sustainability

from Friends of the Earth foe@foe.org: “The USDA tests our food for pesticides to make sure it’s safe for us to eat. But not for glyphosate - a.k.a. Monsanto’s Roundup®.

The California Supreme Court recently affirmed that glyphosate is dangerous to humans. The World Health Organization named it as a probable carcinogen. And the EU and Canada are already testing for it in food.

The USDA is dragging its feet on protecting us from this toxic pesticide. We need your help to change that!

Tell the USDA: Test our food for Monsanto’s toxic glyphosate.”

*****

from SumOfUs.org “Tell PepsiCo to cut ties with companies destroying rainforests and exploiting workers for cheap palm oil.”

Excerpt of an opinion piece by Seth Kantner in Bristol Bay Times: “...I looked up Measure 1, and read it. It’s not the evil thing those attack ads are saying. It’s exactly what Brown said it was — a long-overdue update of our laws to protect our very important resource in Alaska: salmon. ...It all brought back memories about my own discomfort between my lifetime of harvesting salmon, eating salmon, benefiting from salmon, while not really doing much useful for that species. And memories of the time I did try — a similar ballot initiative in 2008, Measure 4. ... an attempt to return environmental safeguards for the Alaskan coast that Gov. Frank Murkowski had removed for the mining and oil companies. I was fishing that summer, too, same as I have for the last 45 seasons, and that summer the same thing happened: The giant oil companies and corporations released a blitz of ads against the ballot...”

“...because these powerful corporations, with their attack ads portraying this as an us-against-them conflict, are unearthing another kind of pollution, a poison even more dangerous to our state, and to our nation. They’re using us against us...”

from Food & Water Watch: "study has unveiled a massive hidden water affordability crisis in the United States.<sup>1</sup>... [W]e contacted the two largest water systems in each state to do a nationwide assessment of water shutoffs for nonpayment. ### Spotlight

10/20/18 from info@ourchildrenstrust.org

"... two days ago, for the second time in three months, the Dept. of Justice petitioned the U.S. Supreme Court to circumvent the ordinary procedures of federal litigation in an attempt to stop the Juliana v. United States case from going to trial.

"... Chief Justice John Roberts yesterday issued an order asking the youth plaintiffs to respond to the government defendants' petition. The Supreme Court also placed what's called an "administrative stay" on the litigation, until the Court reviews our response and issues a subsequent order. We are preparing our response right now, and expect to file it on Monday, in hopes that the Supreme Court lifts the administrative stay and that trial proceeds on October 29 as previously scheduled... It would be unprecedented for the Court to stop the case on the eve of trial when the only harm claimed of by the defendants is monetary.

"We can say for sure that on October 29th, whether the trial begins on that day or not, WE WILL MOBILIZE! In every state of this country and with all of the youth plaintiffs at the U.S. District Court in Eugene, Oregon. We will gather with dignity and civility to speak as one voice outside our courts, even if the youth plaintiffs are delayed in speaking inside the court, to bring attention to our unalienable rights under the Constitution, to the critical role of our judiciary, and to demand a climate recovery plan that brings us back from the brink.

"Rallying peacefully and respectfully in front of federal courthouses everywhere in support of this case is more important now than ever before.

"... what this case is about. Our own government has known about the harms caused by climate change since as far back as the 1950's. Despite this knowledge, the government has acted affirmatively and purposefully for decades to create a national energy system that causes climate change...

"On October 29th, we will all stand with these 21 youth plaintiffs and show the world that our future is not pre-determined. Please join us to stand with your neighbors and plan our way forward. Toward a future away from climate change. Away from wars and scarcity, and toward a world where we ALL can find a place to raise our families in peace.

"... celebrate either the first day of the "Trial of the Century," or to demonstrate that "The Youth Must Be Heard!" We will keep you posted as developments continue to arise. Thank you so much for your support.
