Monday April 15	TAX DAY	War tax resistance is divesting from war by refusing to pay the taxes that fund it... How much of our taxes are invested in war? Many people view paying taxes as a positive investment in social goods, such as infrastructure, social services, and education. Others are critical of taxes as an inefficient or even unethical redistribution of wealth by government... But when we pay income taxes (and some other taxes), about half of that money goes to war and militarism. War Resisters League estimates that about 48% of each income tax dollar for fiscal year 2018 is going to military-related spending. This figure has varied only by a few percentage points over the past 16 years." from Divest from War, Invest in People, a campaign of the National War Tax Resistance Coordinating Committee (NWTRCC).	NYC War Resisters League will host Protesting Tax Dollars for War noon EST

Ongoing Campaigns, Recent Past Events, Issues not specific to Alaska, and/or without specific date

Peace | Justice | Sustainability

from Veterans For Peace 4-12-19: "Veterans For Peace Stands with Chelsea Manning and Julian Assange - Chelsea Manning is a hero to Veterans For Peace for releasing documents that the public had every right to see. Julian Assange is a hero to Veterans For Peace for providing a platform for whistleblowers like Chelsea Manning. Both Chelsea Manning and Julian Assange should be celebrated. They should be up for the Nobel Peace Prize and for awards in journalism and courageous truth-telling. Instead they are being persecuted by the very warmongers who continue to lie about the wars in Afghanistan, Yemen, Syria, Iraq and Somalia, and who are now promoting regime change wars with Venezuela and Iran.

Now is the time to stand shoulder-to-shoulder with Julian Assange and Chelsea Manning. We will not be distracted by murky rumors or character assassination in the mainstream media. We will join emergency protests, initiate our own protests, contact our Congressional representatives, write letters to the editor, and more.

In defending these two courageous individuals, Veterans For Peace is also defending the people's right to know. And we are defending journalists' right to publish the truth, no matter how inconvenient to the elites who seek to dominate the globe. If the first casualty of war is truth, then the telling the truth is also an antidote to war.

The Alaska Peace Center greatly appreciates everyone who participated in the Doctrine of Discovery evening at the University Community Presbyterian Church on March 29, 2019.

We thank you for the food, the hospitality, the social connections during the evening, the attention you gave to the messages of the movie, the love and respect in your listening, your honesty in speaking. We thank you for bringing your own culture, history, and experiences to this evening.

We thank you for your participation.

The Alaska Peace Center will continue to work toward the greater well-being of all people and the non-human world. Please feel free to contact us as opportunities arise for participation, co-sponsorship, or other progress toward well-being. <info@alaskapeace.org>

Audio & Songs broadcast with this week's Community News:

Asymmetric Moose Music 041419

Hello this is the Asymmetric Moose with the music picks for the week of April 14, 2014. Last night, April 13, I allowed my soul to float unabashedly in the delightful tunes of Tim Easton, playing a benefit concert for the Northern Alaska Environmental Center at downtown Fairbanks's Firehouse Studios. Tim can surely sing, his guitar playing is nothing short of virtuoso, and his heartfelt message is most definitely in the right place. This week I'll be playing a few of the tunes that he sang at the concert.

In the first tune Tim Sings about a monster that has returned to the Bristol Bay area to threaten the very existence of our precious Salmon. The Pebble Mine Has Got To Go, Pebble Mine Hell No No, The Pebble Mine Has Got To Go Away

*In the next song, Tim asks Jesus to protect him from those who turn love into fear and hatred. Jesus Protect Me!

*Tim prefaced the next tune with a little story about very large protest march in which he became enthralled in London years ago. The demonstrators were demanding that the South African government release the imprisoned Nelson Mandela. At one point he stepped out of the march and summarily but friendly chided by a man with a bright green Mohawk “Don’t Spectate; Participate!” The tune focuses on voting, but I wouldn’t be the Asymmetric Moose, if I didn’t point out that it took much more than voting to oust apartheid and free Mandala. Sometimes it’s direct action that gets the goods. See y’all in Bristol Bay? “Don’t Spectate; Participate!”

“Nobody wants to wake up angry. Nobody wants to go to bed insane. Nobody really wants you to suffer. Nobody wants anybody to be in pain. For whatever you truly want for another, you may have yourself, someday.” Tim Easton sings about putting the golden rule in action in “Peace of Mind”.
