Friday Dec. 13		‘DEADLINE EXTENDED: December 13: Comment on transfer of BP assets to Hilcorp. [Northern Alaska Environemntal Center] urge you to submit comments, contact your representatives, and write letters to the editor asking ... to consider what this major change would mean for our state's economy, health, and climate future. Hilcorp's record of environmental damage, worker safety violations, and secretive business practices should raise red flags for all of us. Read FCAC's Renewable Energy campaigner Phil Wight's letter to the editor here . Dermot Cole wrote a followup here . ADN reported on the federal aspects of the trade. AKPIRG shares more information here. Phil Wight's powerful response to John Shively, former commissioner of the Department of Natural Resources and current chairman of the Pebble Mine project, asserting why it is so important to have a public charter with Hilcorp.
Wednesday Dec 18	2:30pm	Housing First Christmas party: [Unitarian Universalist Fellowship of Fbks] will be sharing ... time and love with residents of Housing First during an afternoon tea and caroling event... We are requesting donations of homemade baked goods and/or some kind of music (including singing) to share with the tenants. If you would like more information or can donate baked goods, please email Holly Blood at hollydblood@yahoo.com . Housing First provides housing without a precondition of sobriety, and they have approximately 45 tenants. Children are welcome at this event.
Wednesday January 15		‘Oil Discharge Prevention and Contingency Plan Public Scoping Michael Munger of the Cook Inlet Regional Citizens Advisory Council writes here , "Weakening or eliminating oil spill prevention and response requirements to ease a perceived “burden” on industry effectively transfers the risks of transporting oil onto the backs of communities, fishermen, subsistence users and citizens who depend on clean coastal waters. A great many people worked hard to establish a level of protection from oil spills, which was nonexistent before March 24, 1989. Clearly, we have to marshal our forces again. To say now, after 30 years, the regulations are suddenly too burdensome, is frustrating and warrants a strong response." from NAEC
February 19-20, 2020		2020 Alaska Statewide Housing Advocacy Days: The Alaska Coalition on Housing & Homelessness will host advocacy days in Juneau on The 2020 Alaska Housing & Homelessness Advocacy day will bring agencies and advocates from communities across the state to share the positive impacts of existing housing and service programs as well as share with elected officials the specific needs in their region. In addition to advocacy efforts, AKCH2 will coordinate several training opportunities related to best practices in service delivery, system evaluation, and policy updates. There are still limited travel scholarships available until December 1 st . For more information: https://www.alaskahousing-homeless.org/advocacyday	Juneau

“Proposed U.S. Department of Peacebuilding (bill H.R. 1111) is currently before the U.S. House of Representatives... This historic measure will augment our current problem-solving options, providing practical, nonviolent solutions to the problems of domestic and international conflict. The legislation will pass from bill to law under one condition: that a wave of citizen interest rise up from the American people and make itself heard in the halls of Congress. During the 20th Century, over 100 million people lost their lives to war — most of whom were non-combatants.” Find out more at <https://peacealliance.org/issues-advocacy/departments-of-peace/>.

“Getting Ahead In a Just Getting By World training: Applications are now being accepted for Getting Ahead classes, which are for those who feel stuck in their circumstances and are ready for change. Getting Ahead in a Just-Gettin'-By World is a step-by-step process for people who live in or near poverty, giving individuals the opportunity to investigate their lives on their own terms. During sixteen 2-hour sessions, Getting Ahead participants discover why they are in their situation, develop a plan to get themselves to a more stable life, and begin to build relationships that will help ensure sustainability as they go. The first class starts January 20th at The Bridge (607 4th Ave) from 12 - 2:30 pm. Lunch and childcare will be provided along with bus tokens. “Solving the climate crisis depends on transitioning our economy to clean energy. Tell your representative to support the 100% Clean Energy Economy Act as an original cosponsor >> To build upon the incredible work going on in Alaska - it’s critical that we also advance bold legislation at the federal level to further limit the use of dirty fossil fuels and advance a just transition to clean energy. The 100% Clean Energy Economy Act will support and expand action already being taken at the local level by cities, communities, and businesses across Alaska to limit carbon pollution that’s contributing to climate change.” from The Alaska Center

“:: U.S. Suspends More Oil and Gas Leases Over What Could Be a Widespread Problem. The federal Bureau of Land Management's Utah office in September voluntarily suspended 130 oil and gas leases after advocacy groups sued, arguing that BLM hadn't adequately assessed the greenhouse gas emissions associated with drilling and extraction on those leases as required by law.’ Inside Climate News. from NAEC

“Veterans For Peace’s Executive Director, Garrett Reppenhagen took action today for climate justice with #FireDrillFriday. The environment has long been a silent casualty of war and armed conflict. If we are going to win on climate, Veterans For Peace knows that we all must make the connections between the environment and militarism... [This past Friday, Nov. 22,] Fire Drill Friday [was] all about WATER. There will be many impacts of climate change, but among the most important are impacts on water resources. The key impacts will be changes in rain and snow, rising temperatures and hence rising demand for water, especially to grow food, worsening water quality, and worse extreme events including floods and droughts that overload systems built for more stable weather patterns--all of which could contribute to increased militarization as the climate becomes more unstable and access to resources are limited. Watch the Teach In: Water Can’t Wait.” from VFP newsletter.

Audio & Songs broadcast with this week's Community News and Opportunities:

-- "Hello, this is Rob Mulford the Asymmetric Moose with picks for the week of November 24, 2019. In a few days it will be Thanksgiving Day, a holiday founded on the Pilgrim's mythic piety and promoting American, read settler, insular self-adulating exceptionalism. But hey, I see no problem with being thankful. I'm thankful for having such a caring, thoughtful, and warm-hearted partner, I'm thankful for being an Alaskan, and for all my relatives: the four legged, the ones who swim in the water, fly in the sky, even those that buzz near my eye. I'm thankful for the ones who slither, the grass, trees, flowers, fungi, and oh yeah, the two legged, furbearing or no. And, I'm thankful our beautiful blue mother earth. And, I got to admit I'm kind of fond of turkey too.

Speaking of that afore mentioned mythic piety, this week I have woven together several audio clips from the documentary video, The Doctrine of Discovery - Unmasking The Domination Code, written and produced by Shawnee, Lenape scholar and author, co-founder and co-director of the Indigenous Law Institute Steven Newcomb. The video is vitally important and should be seen and studied for its truthful historical and current relevance.

You can purchase a copy for $21.50 USD. To order the film send a check or money order to: 38 Plus 2 Productions 40163 Reservation Hwy 3, Morton MN, 56270"

A reminder! Today and often: visit, call, email, write your legislators, congresspersons and city and borough assemblies and write letters to the editor about issues being acted on and affecting peace, justice, and sustainability.

“True peace is not merely the absence of tension. It is the presence of justice.” Martin Luther King, Jr.
