"Did you know that the United States has over 200,000 troops stationed on more than 800 bases in more than 80 countries and all seven continents? The bases embody the U.S. military strategy of "Full Spectrum Dominance." These bases must be closed:

- They are provocative, increasing tensions throughout the world.
- They cause untold, irreversible damage to the environment.
- Bases often prop up authoritarian regimes.
- Communities living around the bases often experience high levels of rapes committed by foreign soldiers, violent crimes, and loss of land or livelihood. In many countries the agreement that permitted the base stipulates that foreign soldiers who perpetrate crimes cannot be held accountable, since they are granted immunity.
- Maintaining these bases drains hundreds of billions of U.S. tax dollars annually which could be much better used to fund human needs here and abroad.

Audio & Songs broadcast with this week's Community News:

*" Hello this is Rob Mulford, the Asymmetric Moose, with picks for the week of February 28th , 2021, This Saturday's Daily News Miner contained a Tribune News Service article written by David S. Cloud and Nabih Bulos, titled: U.S. airstrike against Iranian-backed militants in Syria was a message from Biden. What comes next?

Indeed that is the pivotal question.

As the Tribune News Service article puts it; the United States' executed a predawn airstrike on a Syrian camp, near the city of Deir ez-Zor, purported to be used by Iranian-backed militants accused of attacking American Bases. The purpose for the attack, according to the article, was to send Iran a message from President Biden. When asked by reporters in Houston on Friday to explain this message, Biden elucidated, "You can't act with impunity. Be careful."

My Oxford New American Dictionary defines impunity as: exemption from punishment or freedom from the injurious consequences of an action"

The article says that in choosing the Deir ez-Zor camp for bombing, Biden's national security team had engaged in intense debate, taking in consideration, Biden's hope of drawing Iran into negotiations over the revival of the 2015 agreement – abandoned by the Trump Administration - that restricted Iran's nuclear program. A choice, for some untold reasons, they felt would be less likely to spark an escalating military conflict. This proposition is at-best dubious, for as the article explains: "Officials said, It was no accident that the U.S. struck what amounted to a base used by the militias, an equivalent target to their attacks on the American facilities." For clarity I repeat, "A base used by the militias, an equivalent target to their attacks on the American facilities."

Looking at my National Geographic map of the Middle East, I see that Tehran is a mere 635 miles from the Syrian City of Deir ez-Zor. An online search showed the distance from Washington DC to Deir ez-Zor to be 5924 miles. There is little doubt that the people of Deir ez-Zor have more in common (cultural, ethnic, religious, and familial) with the people of Iran than they have with the United States. In that context, do these people not have the same rights and interests as those claimed by the United States, under its so-called Monroe Doctrine, or does the United States' use of militia proxies trump mutual respect, reciprocity, and international law.

While attending the 2012 Special Operations Summit held in Tampa, Florida by the Institute for Defense and Government Advancement, I heard the head of the Marine Corps University's School of Special Operations, Col. Michael Lewis, explain that one of his jobs was to catch politicians while they were on the campaign train, and to educate them on the way the system works. This may, to some degree, explain the continuity enjoyed by this country's tragically flawed military adventurism.

Blindly accepting impunity as just reward for their self ordained exceptionalism, all empires expire, sometimes painfully. Although it doesn't surprise me, it saddens me to the core that we have yet to abandon this path to perdition.

Speaking of that impunity pathed path to perdition, Phil Ochs sings Cops of the world

English singer-songwriter Richard Thompson was cofounder of the popular folk rock band Fairport Convention. Here he sings from the perspective of those whose communities have been by those road crews of damnation in - Yankee Go Home

Gone but not forgotten, Dave Cline was president of Veterans For Peace from 2000 to 2006 here he speaks the traumatic experience in Vietnam that taught him – Silence Means Keeping That Lie Going

Next my friend, Israeli Defense Forces War Refusenick Yonatan Shapira sings about the plight of the disposed Palestinians in – Return

Wage Peace."
